During the Job Fair

- ❖ When greeting an employer representative, introduce yourself and look confident by extending your hand for a firm handshake. Be sure to have direct eye contact and smile.
- ❖ Express your interest by demonstrating knowledge of the organization through the research that you did prior to the event.
- ❖ Relate your skills, interests, and experiences to the specific needs of the employer.
- ❖ Listen and ask relevant questions about the organization and the position(s) they have open. Take notes if needed.
- ❖ This is not the time to ask salary-related questions.
- ❖ Offer the employer representative a copy of your resume if you are interested in any of their open positions.
- ❖ Ask the employer representative what the next step is and how to follow up.
- ❖ Get appropriate contact information and ask for a business card if they have one.
- ❖ Be sure to thank the employer representative for their time, smile, and offer your handshake before moving on to the next table.
- ❖ Always conduct yourself professionally. Remember that even when waiting in line to speak to the employer representative, or walking to the next table, you are being watched.

After the Job Fair

- ❖ Send a thank you letter or e-mail message to the employer representative to reconfirm your interest in their organization and the open position.
- ❖ Within a week, followup with a telephone call if you have not heard from the employer.

ANCHORAGE HEALTHCARE SALISBURY, MARYLAND

Founder and Chairman of the Board Stephen L. Rosedale established the CommuniCare Family of Companies in 1984. As a young man, Steve worked in various healthcare environments and developed a passion for caring. He continued to study the art and science of aging at Brandeis University, where he sparked a close relationship with Professor Morrie Schwartz (of the famous book, "Tuesdays with Morrie").

A concept that struck a chord in his heart and has since remained vibrant is the concept of "therapeutic milieu." This is the impact of a holistic environment, comprised of people, clinical programs, and physical environments that create a healing environment where a person can thrive. Since then, Steve has been on a mission to build caring communities that cater to the unspoken needs of our guests and residents.

A family-owned company, we have grown to become one of the nation's largest providers of post-acute care, which includes skilled nursing rehabilitation centers, long-term care centers, assisted living communities and long-term acute care hospitals (LTACH).

Each and every one of our employees' primary importance stems from our philosophy: Serving with Pride. We recognize that we are called to reach out with our hearts and touch the lives of others. This recognition instills a great sense of purpose in the work we do each day. As a result, we take immense pride in our opportunity to deliver the highest quality of care. We remind ourselves daily that we have to serve with pride, and this energizes us in our mission to give the gift of life to each and every guest and resident of the CommuniCare Family of Companies.

A line from our CEO's favorite book, The Little Prince, captures the demeanor of the care we provide, saying, "It is only with the heart that one can see rightly. What is essential is invisible to the eye."

We are glad you attended our event. Good luck with your job search!

What to Do After Attending a Job Fair

1. Get organized. Since you probably talked with many different employers, it is important to stay organized and keep track of all of your potential job leads and their contact information.
2. Show appreciation. Send a thank you letter by email or regular mail. This shows a prospective employer that you are really interested in the job and it will make you stand out because you made a special follow-up effort. In your letter or message:
 - ✓ Thank the recruiter for speaking with you.
 - ✓ Some recruiters attend a lot of job fairs so be sure to mention which one you attended and the position you are interested in.
 - ✓ Refresh the recruiter's memory by mentioning something specific you discussed at the job fair.
 - ✓ Summarize your qualification.
 - ✓ Restate your wish for an interview and attach another copy of your resume.
 - ✓ If you forgot to mention an important selling point at the job fair, now is your chance to mention it.
3. Keep your applications in motion. Follow the recruiter's instructions for setting up interviews. If a recruiter told you to go online and fill out a job application, do it. When you apply, mention that you met their recruiter at the job fair (include date and location of event). Then email the recruiter to tell him or her that you applied online as per their request.
4. Make necessary updates to your resume. Make sure to follow-up on any needed changes to your resume. As you receive additional education or training, or have a change in work history, be sure to update your resume accordingly.
5. Continue practicing your interview skills. Practice is the key word. Continue going over potential interview questions and how you would answer them.
6. Reflect on your experience at the job fair. It is wise to take some time to consider how you handled yourself at the job fair and make any necessary improvements for the next time. Ask yourself: How well did I prepare? Do I feel like I networked well? What went well? What would I do differently?
